Competitions 2007

Can You Make the Cut?

Call for Entries

Have you or your company produced technical communication products that you think are worthy of awards? Would you like your work to be recognized by your peers? This is your invitation to participate in the following LSC competitions:

- Online Communication
- Technical Art
- Technical Publications

Who is eligible?

Anyone is eligible to submit entries. You do not have to be a member of STC. You may enter work as an individual or on behalf of a colleague or subordinate.

What can I enter?

Entries in all categories must contain sufficient technical, scientific, medical, or similar content to qualify as technical communication. Entries must have been produced or substantially revised within 24 months preceding September 1, 2007.

Entries must have been originally prepared for and accepted for publication by a client, employer, or publisher.

How are the competitions structured?

STC's competitions recognize and encourage excellence in online communication, technical art, and technical publications. STC offers two levels of competition:

- Local and regional competitions
- International competitions

Local competitions are the first level of competition. A local competition is one held by a single chapter. The international competitions—the International Online Communication competition (IOCC), the International Technical Art competition (ITAC), and the International Technical Publications competition (ITPC)—are the second and final level of competition. Winners of the Distinguished Technical Communication award in each category of each local and regional competition are automatically submitted to the appropriate international competition. After you enter the local competition, no further action is required.

What Awards are Given?

At the local and regional level, three levels of recognition are awarded in each competition category. These awards, in descending order, are:

- Distinguished Technical Communication (DTC)
- Excellence
- Merit

One Best of Show award is presented for each competition. Winners of the DTC and Best of Show award in each category qualify for automatic submission to STC's international competitions.
